TIMELY NEW AUTO FUEL TEST

In tune with the environmental times, autoists in Riverside soon will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their desire to lessen the community's smog problem, at no real sacrifices to themselves.

The opportunity involves the use of compressed natural gas as fuel for their cars. The gas is almost totally non-polluting. It will, according to plans now being worked out between Pacific Lighting Co. and Union Oil Co., be available at two new Union stations equipped to sell both the natural gas and regular gasoline.

Pacific Lighting, the big natural gas distributor for Southern California, will provide conversion kits through its subsidiary, Dual Fuel Systems. As planned, Union will buy the gas from another Pacific Lighting subsidiary, Southern California Gas Co. The kits will permit use of either gas or gasoline in a car.

Substantial benefits are offered motorists by the gas propulsion system, despite the approximate $300 cost of the conversion kits. The greatest, of course, is cleaner air, which Riverside needs. Natural gas is clean burning and should reduce auto pollution 90 percent.

Other benefits are reduced costs, despite the original investment. When used as a motor vehicle fuel, natural gas is exempt from tax, reducing the cost to about 20 cents per 100 cubic feet, the equivalent of a gallon. Maintenance costs also will be reduced, since spark plugs will not have to be changed and oil will require replacement only once a year, according to Pacific Lighting.

There are, of course, some disadvantages, although they are fairly negligible for the average driver. Fuel tank mileage range is reduced to about 100 miles, and there is some power loss at higher speeds. Also the tanks take up space in the luggage compartment.

The expected gains, especially environmental, from the Pacific Lighting-Union Oil plan, seem eminently worth the try. The Riverside experiment will be watched very hopefully.

Cap'n Jack Says:

"We salute the Porterville area 4-H Clubs and in particular the advisors and leaders who spend countless hours with our youth. Proper direction in their activities is of the greatest importance in our troubled world. For recreational equipment see Kenyon's."

DEFOLIATION UNDERWAY IN COTTON FIELDS

VISALIA — Top crops of cotton are beginning to open in most Tulare county fields, with defoliation underway in early-planted fields according to Elvin Mankins, county agricultural commissioner.

Milo harvest is picking up increasingly, said Mankins, and is showing good yields. Sugar beet harvest is well-along.

Walnut, pistachio, and almond harvest is picking up. Pomegranates are showing an excellent yield, with testing low in many orchards.

Raisins are being rolled and some boxing has begun. Juice grapes are being packed for eastern markets, and Emperor grape picking is expected to begin full-scale with more coloring.

Olive orchards continue to show a good crop, but fruit is small in most areas.

Romaine and lettuce fields are being thinned; fall tomatoes are beginning to set; and cucumbers are being picked for the cannery and fresh market.

O'CAMPO TO SPEAK ON CHICANOISM

VISALIA — Mel O'Campo, former Spanish language radio announcer in southern California, will speak on "The Power Behind Chavez and Chicanoism" on Saturday, October 16 at 8:00 p.m. in the Women's Clubhouse, Johnson and Center streets in Visalia.

"Chavez and the Chicano movement," said O'Campo, "have joined forces with the Maoist style Atzlan land grab movement to create a reign of terror in the Southwest which will be blamed on Americans of Mexican descent." O'Campo charged the Chicano movement is aimed at creating civil strife between races in cities and rural areas.

The program is part of a continuing lecture series sponsored by the TACT committees of the San Joaquin valley.

Now's the time to help your lawn
"bounce back"
— and save money too!

SUMMER days are notoriously hard on lawns. Lots of daylight hours, with the sun scorching hot. Short nights provide little relief. But now, as fall approaches, it all starts to change around. Growing conditions are much better again. Feed a hungry lawn and it will respond handsomely. And if weeds are messing things up, this is a good time to get rid of many of them. The right products for the job are on special sale now — see below.

BILL WILL PROHIBIT DRUGGING OF HORSES

SACRAMENTO — Governor Ronald Reagan recently signed into law a bill authored by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy which prohibits use of drugs on horses involved in shows, performance competition, or public sales. The law, effective immediately, requires exhibitors to allow a blood specimen to be taken from any horse upon request; prohibits public exhibition on sale of a horse known to be drugged; charges the Department of Agriculture with responsibility of administering the program; and makes violation of the law a misdemeanor.

Berryhill explaining each student's class schedule, and offering parents the opportunity to spend 10 minutes in each class Monday evening to meet the teachers, hear an explanation of the various courses, and ask questions.

The Monache Music department, under direction of Dale Anderson, will present a program in the Campus Center at 9:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served prior to the concert.

Band Show

Canada and Mexico, and on the Armed Service network, via satellite.

"This is a total community enterprise," Shaffer says, "since the show involves not only the band, but a parade of horse-drawn vehicles, horseless carriages and other old-time equipment which is being gathered together in the area and that must be transported, with the necessary horses, to Los Angeles."

Assisting Shaffer in organizing the show are Bob Bennett, Dutch Schmid, and Bill Rodgers. Bennett and Schmid are in charge of fund raising; Rodgers, along with Don Jones and Alan Hammond, is getting western equipment, teams, and personnel together.

"Money is needed primarily to take care of transportation of equipment and horses," Bennett says. "No one is being paid to participate and western equipment is being donated for the show, however, some funds will be involved in securing teams, and, of course there will be a charge for trucks."

Bennett and Schmid are asking financial participation from civic organizations, service clubs, the business community and individuals. Schmid can be contacted at Mineral King Savings and Loan, Porterville branch, 784-1320, or at home 784-5405; Bennett at 784-5852.

"A bare-bone budget of $2,500 has been set up to handle the show," Bennett says. "For this, Porterville will receive television publicity virtually throughout the world."

Great Britain outlawed slave trade in 1807.

BIG JOHN Strong's circus returned to Porterville Wednesday for two performances at Roche elementary school and one at Porterville State hospital. Kids of all ages packed the circus tent for both Roche school performances to see Big John and a variety of animal acts, left; the Orwyns, trapeze and tumbling artists; and juggler Andy Swan. Roche PTA sponsored the annual event. (Farm Tribune photos)
